

The Energy Audit That Won't Slow You Down

VIRTUAL COMMISSIONING (VCx[®]) SERVICES

Pepco has teamed up with Power TakeOff to bring you Virtual Commissioning (VCx)—a no-cost service designed to help your facility use less energy. With VCx, a trained Energy Advisor analyzes your building's energy data remotely. Participation is fast and easy, with no equipment eligibility requirements, fees, or paperwork.

How It Works

- 1. Data analysis: We remotely review your smart meter data to understand how and when your facility uses energy.
- 2. Personalized recommendations: Your dedicated advisor shares low-cost and no-cost ways to save, like optimizing schedules, managing equipment startup and shutdown, and reducing excess use.
- 3. Virtually delivered: No on-site visits needed—everything is handled remotely by phone and email.
- 4. Measured results: We monitor your meter data after each change to measure and confirm your energy savings.

The process takes most participants less than four hours.

VCx participants
reduced their energy usage (kWh) by
